

Alan Luo Elected to NAE

We are so pleased to share that the director of our ACRC affiliated site at Ohio State University, Prof. Alan Luo, has been elected as a Member of the National Academy of Engineering (NAE) for the implementation of lightweight aluminum, magnesium, and titanium materials and advanced manufacturing processes for automotive applications.

Alan is internationally recognized for his work in lightweight materials and advanced manufacturing.

Congratulations on this outstanding achievement!