

FEHRMANN Tech Group Joins ACRC

We are pleased to announce that FEHRMANN Tech Group of Hamburg, Germany has just joined ACRC as our newest member.

Our primary contact is Henning Fehrmann, CEO (featured here). Please join us in welcoming him and his organization to our collaboration.

FEHRMANN develops and produces new, innovative materials for future technologies. Materials include high-performance aluminum alloys for 3D printing, casting and extrusion applications; high-tech windows for ships, buildings and plants; and aluminum for material development. The company prides itself on game-changing solutions.

FEHRMANN combines 50 years of high-performance aluminum development experience and a strong development ecosystem with modern corporate culture, data science and AI.
