

Spotlight on Materion

Based in Cleveland, Ohio, Materion is a global supplier of specialty materials ranging from alloys and thin-film deposition materials to beryllium products, composite/clad metals, and precision optics. The company's melting technology experts have developed and optimized a variety of methods to melt and alloy metals, including electron beam melting, vacuum melting, induction melting, and concasting.

MATERION

With more than 100 years of materials science expertise, Materion's products and services align with and support the important global megatrends of connectivity, advanced mobility and clean energy. The company has 32 worldwide locations, serves customers in 66 different countries, and employs a workforce of more than 3,700 people.

Learn more about our recent member here.